This is translated letter of your sponsored child

Dear Wojnarova Sona Zs Dobris,

Hi warm greetings from Deepak. I am fine. How are you? I hope you too are fine there by the grace of God. My studies are going on well. Thank you for the lovely letter and birthday wishing card. Convey my love and regards to all teachers and pupils of your school.

Thank you for the card, letter and scanned pictures. The pictures are very good. I like your charity events very much. Hope you had good Christmas festival.

The 3rd sem exam is over. I have answered very well. I found the theory exam quite difficult. I am now waiting for the 3rd sem result.

The College took us on a trip to the KSRTC Depot in Hubli in order to get us an insight into the workings of the place. We were taught how buses are made, from the 1st to the end step. With the Bus engine parts, how the bus designs are created, how the bus seats are made and fixed, how the window glass is fixed to the frame.

We were informed on the price of the front glass and instructed not to tamper with it. We were advised against messing around with it and told that in case of any negligence, we would have to bear the consequences. We were then taught on how the Electricians accomplish the light fitting, how the rivet is hammered while putting the metal sheet of the bus in place. As for the bus interiors, we were told that in the past metal sheets were used for the gripping where commuters stand. But now wooden rods are used. Thus we were taught quite a lot.

Later, on our way home, we visited the Shirali Falls. I spent some time with my friends and then returned home.

Our College had a visit from the workforce of BHAVANI INDUSTRIES. These BHAVANI INDUSTRIES staff first conducted an exam. Later the students were divided into groups of 3 members each and asked questions. They then selected 20 students. I was one among these. I was happy to have my name called out. They told us when we could pay them a visit.

The fire extinguishers Department's officials visited our college. They spoke to us on the reasons for fire accident and their destructive consequences. They also told us the preventive measures to be adopted against fires, the steps of caution to be taken in case of fires and combating fires too. When encountering fires, we were told not to give in to fear but first try to extinguish the fire. Later they showed us the different kinds of pipes that were present in a fire extinguishing vehicle and how the water flows through them.

On behalf of you, I have received note books, bag, umbrella from the trust in your name. Thank you very much.

With love
Deepak
